Dear Mr. Clark:

Thank you for the material which you have thoughtfully sent to me.

With so much to be done here in Washington, I count on the help of the American people. I assure you that I will study this information and share it with the appropriate members of the White House staff.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

Howard H. Baker, Jr.

Dear Mr. Vivas:

Thank you for your letter of October 8 enclosing your assessment of the situation in South Africa.

As you know, the attitudes of this Administration and of the American people regarding apartheid are very clear. Apartheid and the system of racial domination must be abolished. We cannot support a system so fundamentally opposed to our own national values. The Administration has consistently been opposed to sanctions that would further hurt the victims of apartheid. Such measures only worsen the difficult situation faced by all South Africans. Nevertheless, Congress passed legislation imposing a new set of economic sanctions against South Africa over the President's veto. These new sanctions are now the law of the land. Our policy in South Africa remains one of commitment to positive steps that will support those parties seeking an end to apartheid and a system of governance which is based on consent of the governed. We believe there is a future for positive diplomacy in South Africa.

The Administration has for some years been running an extremely active assistance program for black South Africans, which includes aid in the form of scholarships, legal assistance, and assistance to black business development inside South Africa. More than $20 million in aid was spent in this program in 1986. In short, we continue to concentrate on the positive contributions that U.S. diplomacy can make in South Africa notwithstanding the sanctions that have been imposed.

Thank you for your letter. Please rest assured that your comments have been carefully considered.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

Howard H. Baker, Jr.

Dear Mr. Laffer:

Thank you for your kind letter inviting Senator Baker to be guest speaker at the 23rd Washington Conference of A.B. Laffer Associates in March 1988.

The Chief of Staff is honored to receive your invitation, but I hope you'll understand that a definite answer this far in advance is not possible. If you would like to send him a follow-up invitation closer to the date of the event, he will be happy to give it every consideration.

With Senator Baker's best wishes,

As you are no doubt aware, the President just recently met with the Commission on Merchant Marine and Defense and formally received their study. We are currently reviewing the 24 findings of the Commission.

The Commission is now working on their first series of recommendations which are required by December 31. When these are available, we will review them to determine what action seems appropriate.

Dear Mr. Quinn:

Thank you for your letter of October 5, 1987 expressing your concern about mandated benefits legislation.

This Administration shares your concern and has made clear to Congress its opposition to the bills you mentioned, as well as to other proposals which similarly intrude on the employer-employee relationship. Such legislation is inconsistent with the Administration's goal of sustaining the Nation's economic growth, since it restricts the ability of employers to compete in the market, interferes with the right of employees and employers to agree on terms of employment best suited to their needs, increases the cost of labor, and can reduce employment.

These are matters of high priority for the Administration, and the White House is monitoring the mandated-benefits bills very closely to ensure that appropriate action is taken to try to prevent their passage.

I appreciate the time you have taken to share with me your views on this legislation.

Thank you for your letter concerning General Secretary Gorbachev's visit to the United States. As you may know, he plans to be in this country for only a few days, and it is expected all of that time will be in the Washington area.

Dear Tom:

I want to thank you again for joining us on such short notice to discuss the importance of the current budget amendment.

Although the reasons may in fact vary, I think most everyone agreed that it is absolutely critical that this package be passed by the Congress. It's not perfect, and it need not be the last word on deficit reduction. But it's clear that if it doesn't pass the results will likely be severe. It's also far superior to the indiscriminate approach under an automatic sequester.

A defeat of this package would send a dire signal to the international markets that our government has lost the ability to control the deficit -- a signal that could be followed by higher interest rates and a serious slowing of our economy.

We are now faced with two challenges: first and foremost, we must ensure that the current package passes; anything you can do now to express your support for the package is extremely important. Second, we must also ensure that deficit reduction continues in the future.

I look forward to getting together again soon to discuss both these goals with you. In the interim, don't hesitate to let us know if you have any thoughts or suggestions.

Thank you again for your support.

Dear Jim:

I'm sorry you were unable to join us to discuss the importance of the current budget agreement.

Although the reasons varied, there was general agreement that it is absolutely critical that this package be passed by the Congress. It's not perfect, and it need not be the last word on deficit reduction. But it's clear that if it doesn't pass the results will likely be severe. It's also far superior to the indiscriminate approach under an automatic sequester.

A defeat of this package would send a fatal signal to the international markets that our government has lost the ability to control the deficit -- a signal that could be followed by higher interest rates and a serious slowing of our economy.

With that in mind, I think we are now faced with two challenges: first and foremost, we must ensure that the current package passes; anything you can do now to express your support for the package is extremely important. Second, we must also ensure that deficit reduction continues in the future.

Dear Mr. Burner:

Thank you for your thoughtful message. I appreciate your friendship, but I do not plan to run for office in 1988. It is my intention to serve President Reagan until the end of his term.

Your words of encouragement mean a great deal to me. Please accept my warm best wishes.

Sincerely,

Howard H. Baker, Jr.
Chief of Staff to the President

Dear Ms. Nolan:

Thank you for your recent message.

It was good of you to tell me where you stand on these significant issues. You have no idea how helpful it is for me to hear directly from the American people. I will share your comments with the appropriate members of the White House staff.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

Howard H. Baker, Jr.
Chief of Staff to the President
